Privacy Breaches and the Protection of Personal Information

Municipal government institutions must adhere to a variety of privacy-related obligations under the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (MFIPPA). Failure to follow these requirements may result in a privacy breach, which occurs when personal information is collected, used or disclosed in ways that do not comply with Ontario's privacy laws. This presentation will explore various types of privacy breaches, how to respond to a privacy breach, and best practices for keeping personal information safe, including in the work-from-home context. An overview of the IPC and our privacy complaints process will also be provided.

Presenter: Rob Samuels, Counsel, Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario (IPC)

Rob Samuels is Legal Counsel with the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario. His work is focused on the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, and Part X of the Child, Youth and Family Services Act.

Tuesday, November 24, 2020 @ 12:00 - 1:15 p.m.

Milton`s Mid-Rise Buildings Urban Design Guidelines

The Province is expecting municipalities to place greater emphasis on promoting intensification in urban areas across Ontario. Appropriately located and well-designed mid-rise and tall buildings with mixed uses, amenities and community services close to transit, can contribute to healthy and sustainable communities. At the same time, it is evident that introducing taller and higher density built forms in a predominantly low-rise community can also raise concerns about perceived or potential impacts. Milton`s urban design guidelines assist with interpreting the general intent and purpose of Official Plan policies and clearly illustrate the features that are desirable for the appropriate development of mid-rise buildings.

Presenter: David Twigg BA(Hons) Pg Cert MRTPI MCIP RPP

David Twigg is a Senior Planner at the Town of Milton. He specializes in Policy and Urban Design; providing advice on a full range of development applications, policy matters and town initiated projects. David has 30 years of experience as a planning professional in the public sector. Before moving to Canada, David led the team preparing the 'Official Plan' for the cathedral city of Chichester in southern England. Prior to that he lived and worked in the small independent island state of Guernsey. There he held various planning positions, ultimately leading the review of the island's strategic plan. For the Town of Milton, David has prepared in-house urban design guidelines for tall and mid-rise buildings, urban design concepts for town owned lands in the Downtown, an urban design visualization for the Milton Education Village, and development application guidelines for Urban Design Briefs. David is the Town's project lead for the Milton Education Village and the Milton Mobility Hub.

Electronic Meetings – The “New Normal” for Municipal Meetings

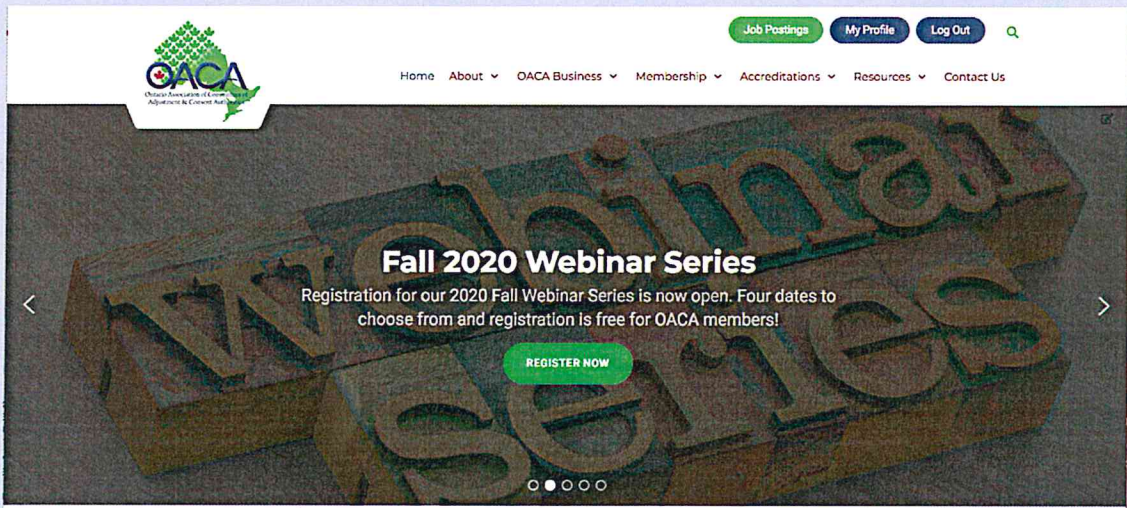

Bill 197 received Royal Assent on July 21, 2020 as the COVID-19 Economic Recovery Act, 2020. Among other things, Bill 197 amended both the City of Toronto Act, 2006 and the Municipal Act, 2001 to allow members of a council, local board or a committee of either of them to participate electronically in meetings – without the need for the physical presence of any member at a particular location. In this presentation these changes will be discussed with an emphasis on their impact on committees of adjustment and consent granting authorities.

Presenter: Rebecca Hines

Rebecca is a member of Aird & Berlis LLP's Municipal and Land Use Planning Group. Her practice includes providing advice to private and public sector clients on a wide variety of municipal and land use planning matters, with an emphasis on integrity matters. She appears before the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal and also provides advice to administrative tribunals, such as compliance audit committees. Rebecca joined Aird & Berlis as an associate in 2018 after summering and articling at the firm.
